

Tenants' and homeowners' protections against eviction and foreclosure resulting from Covid-19 pandemic: informational websites

To see if your building qualifies for the federal CARES Act moratorium, you may visit:

the list of Multifamily Properties Subject to Federal Eviction Moratoriums created by the National Low-Income Housing Coalition (NLIHC).

For a comprehensive summary of tenant protections by state (including protections during each step of the eviction process) you may visit:

Eviction Lab at Princeton University's Housing Policy Scorecard.

For a comprehensive list of Covid-related eviction protections enacted by cities, towns, and villages in the United States, you may visit:

National League of Cities' COVID-19: Local Action Tracker.

For a list of what each state's court system has decided about reopening (that is, allowing in-person hearing and trials), you may visit:

National Center for State Courts, Coronavirus and the courts, which provides an interactive look at current state court restrictions and plans to resume operations; or Ballotopedia, Court closures by state webpage, which includes a chronological account of court closure decisions by state.

For extensive information on legal protections for renters and homeowners during the health crisis, you may visit:

National Housing Law Project's \(NHLP's\) Covid Campaign webpage \(updated July 1, 2020\)

Articles linked to that webpage cover topics such as:

- Federal Eviction Moratorium – The CARES Act
- State and Local Eviction Moratoria
- COVID-19 Litigation Resources
- Tools for Tenant Advocates – such as:
  - Court challenges to evictions during the pandemic generally, based on unfair eviction procedures due to Covid-related restrictions on court proceedings (“Procedural Due Process Challenges”)

- Federal court challenges to state eviction proceedings during the pandemic
- Tenant rights of domestic violence survivors during covid-19: A resource for domestic violence and housing advocates
- Reasonable accommodations and disability discrimination in the context of covid-19
- Homeowner Protections and Resources

Please note that the information found in all databases linked to this article may not be fully up to date, as the situation changes regularly.*